YORK'S BEST KEPT SECRET SINCE 1686

At a time when it was illegal to be Catholic, and only boys received a formal education, a group of religious sisters established this secret convent and were the first to educate girls in the country. Our house was the second school in country.

Today it is the oldest living convent in all of the British Isles, it is the main house of the worldwide order, the Congregation of Jesus, and more than 200 schools across the globe can trace their beginnings to us.
